

ASTROLOGY UPDATE: Dec. 6, 2012

By Michael Erlewine (Michael@Erlewine.net)

Every once in a while, when I notice the astrology is getting interesting out there, I like to write about it a bit so that some of you non-astrologers can have a heads up, if you like this kind of thing.

Remember, as I have mentioned many times in the past, I don't "believe" in astrology. I just find it a useful way to look at and understand my life every once in a while. While I do monitor solar activity every day, and generally track the lunar cycle, I don't just "do" astrology all day long. I do the same things you do.

I look at astrology when things get interesting and I want to understand why, or when things get rough and I need some picture of what is going on. Right now things are getting interesting, so I am sharing that with those of you who might like a little glimpse what the heavens above are up to every once in a while. Here is what is happening now. This is happening to all of us, but we each take it individually, depending on our situation.

On a personal level, at the level of life circumstances, what I call the Karma Chart (our karma), I see an opportunity to fine-tune the life direction (where we are headed or think we are headed). Right now you should have a good amount of push or drive and it is stable or balanced enough so that the great pendulum in our mind is not swinging too far to either side, as in: swinging from arrogance to misery, as it usually does. This is a good time in our outward life to grasp the moment and even get inspiration and make some decisions.

Chief among them may be ideas about where we want to go in life, perhaps even a change (or fine tuning) of our direction, either career or spiritual direction, or both. In particular today (Thursday Dec 6, 2012) there is a good mix of insight, balance, and the ability to get things done. That is what is going on personally in our Karma Chart, the chart of circumstances in which each of us finds ourselves.

As for our inner or spiritual view (what is going on inside), things are pretty bright just now. They too are balanced, but with more than the usual amount of urgency or drive, so you definitely want to do something. You are all dressed up and ready to go. Best of all, the usual fog of confusion has lifted and the overall view or picture is quite broad. As I like to say, right now you not only can see the trees, but also grasp the concept of the forest, as well. Make hay.

And you many even have the entrepreneurial spirit for the moment. You may want to break away, break out, or at least venture some into the unknown and make it known.... more than usual. These days, this recent time period has been accented toward where this life you live is headed, call it a career, the way your go through life, etc. To myself I just call it the Life Path.

Our inner “guru’ is stimulated or functioning at this time, and so these questions naturally arise.

Let me recap. Outwardly you are more stable than usual and if you rest your mind a bit, insights may pop up as to what you really feel like doing, and you can adjust our trajectory to that end.

Inwardly, the mind is also quite stable, but with a little more inner urgency to accomplish something, a certain drive. Spiritual vision is good just now, real good, in fact, and you can get the picture as to where you are, quite clearly. And all of this is topped off with clarity about where you are going (life path) or where you would like or think you should be going.

This is actually a good time, at least for getting the picture, adjusting our sails, and heading off into the sunset or wherever you wish. That is the general picture for just now. How are you taking this time?