

CATCHING UP WITH EMMA

November 3, 2012

By Michael Erlewine (Michael@Erlewine.net)

I have been so busy around here lately that a number of Emma events have slipped by undocumented, chiefly her first Halloween. I thought I would gather a few Emma photos her mom and dad took and put them in a little album here for those fans of Emma like me.

And Emma has been teething, both upper and lowers, so all those parents out there know what that is like. She was a little fussy, but her mom says she is pretty much over it. Anyway, enjoy these Emma photos. She is coming for an extended visit soon, so I will have many photos then.

Copyright (c) Michael Erlewine

The magic Emma is all dressed up, but with probably not many places to go. She must be inspecting something pretty serious in front of her.

Copyright (c) Michael Erlewine

Copyright (c) Michael Erlewine

Copyright (c) Michael Erlewine

Emma with her witch costume.

Copyright (c) Michael Erlewine

Solid food has made its debut and Emma likes to eat. Here she is mouthing an apple.